Obituary

James Lee Parker was born on July 4, 1944 in New Orleans, Louisiana. He was the fourth of four children from the union of Henry and Willie Mae Parker. He moved to Los Angeles, California at the age of 16 years old, where he lived until he departed this life on June 28th, 1985.

James was a warm and fun-loving person and quite often expressed his feelings in song, for he loved to sing. He was a loving husband and devoted father. We thank God for the life he shared with us and for the beautiful memories we will treasure of him.

He leaves to mourn, his wife, Barbara Parker; two sons, Antoine and Bobby; one daughter, Antonette; his father, Henry Parker, all of Los Angeles, California; two sisters, Adline Jones of Brooklyn, N.Y., and Louella Parker of Baton Rouge, La; one brother, Jim Parker also of Baton Rouge, La., aunts, uncles, cousins and a host of other relatives and friends.
